THE ARTIST'S WORD

Sunika Custom is the customization of sneakers, hence the name sunika = sneaker in Japanese, as well as any leather or canvas item whether bags, shoes, jackets, etc.

It's something I've been doing for 4 years.

I am passionate about drawing and, after discovering this phenomenon from the United States, via YouTube videos, where personalization is a hot trend, I started customizing sneakers.

Influenced by manga and Japanese culture in general, my style and preferences naturally lean towards these inspirations. However, I do not let myself being contained by this style, and instead take pleasure in responding to various and varied requests such as a pair of baby shoes with a childlike theme or adult pairs with a cinema or pop culture theme.

I am up for any challenge, so I gladly agreed to collaborate with Pébéo to develop and launch their new setacolor leather range!

FABRIANO PAPER MAKING

The story of paper begins in Asia along the Silk Road, arriving in Fabriano. Back in 1264, it was here that the ingenious concept of cotton fibre paper emerged, a stroke of genius during the medieval period, with the entire process proudly made in Italy.

Fabriano is renowned for three significant breakthroughs: animal gelatine, the watermark, and the multiple hammer mill. Equally important are the three unique manufacturing methods that continue to set its paper apart: handmade, mould-made machine, and Fourdrinier machine.

TEN TOP TIPS USING XL GRAPHITE AND CHARCOAL

- 1 Cover large areas by using the blocks on their side.
- 2 Use on different coloured papers for different effects. White paper creates contrast, toned paper gives a softer colour background and less contrast, red papers create drama and warmth beneath charcoal.
- 3 Try textured papers for creating patterns and textures, the blocks will skip over the pattern on the paper, the lighter the touch the softer the pattern.
- 4 Create marks and patterns by using the corners of the blocks.
- 5 Use the edges of the blocks to create lines, stripes and broad swathes of colour and tone.
- 6 Graphite is naturally soluble, soften areas with a dampened brush or waterbrush creating interesting passages of colour and tone.
- 7 Smudge layers together with a paper stump or finger.
- 8 Erase into the XL Blocks with techniques erasers, lifting out large areas or small sections to create textures.
- 9 Use negative space by leaving highlights free from charcoal or graphite and shading in the deepest darkest areas.
- 10 Vary your pressure to create a variety of tonal values from very light to extremely dark.
